

Conflict of Interest Disclosure

We need to know if you or anyone close to you will benefit in any way from this project.

On islands, many people know each other, are related, and work together. That is fine—even if you or someone close to you is going to benefit from the project, we can still go ahead with the project. We just need to know about it.

A few examples of benefits you should tell us about:

- You or a relative own or work for a company that would supply materials for the project.
- You or a relative work for the nonprofit Seacology would partner with.
- You or a close relative owns the land that will be used for any part of the project.

Please sign and return this to amanda@seacology.org. Thank you.

Project: _____

Field representative: _____

1. Will you receive a benefit, directly or indirectly, from this project?

☐ No

☐ Yes. Please describe it briefly:

2. Will a family member, close friend, business associate, or nonprofit organization with which you are associated receive a benefit, directly or indirectly, from this project?

☐ No

☐ Yes. Please describe the benefit and your relationship to the person or organization:

Signature

Date